FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Albuquerque, New Mexico Joins CrimeWeb

June 15, 2006 – Fort Worth, TX – The Albuquerque Police Department has teamed up with The CrimeWeb Network, the leader of e-mail based alert notifications, to disseminate crime and public safety alerts to citizens. The information regarding each type of alert is entered into the CrimeWeb.Net site by the agency via a centralized web-based clearinghouse. Citizens can register to receive the information (FREE of CHARGE) at www.crimeweb.net. Alerts can be received on any computer or web-enabled device including cell phones and pagers.

Although most police departments have websites, it is sometimes difficult for citizens to quickly and efficiently obtain information online about crimes in their community. CrimeWeb.Net offers a patented, advanced technology that allows public safety agencies to be proactive in keeping citizens informed.

Albuquerque is the first public safety agency in New Mexico to use CrimeWeb. They join dozens of other police agencies nationwide now using CrimeWeb.Net to distribute alerts regarding public safety related information.

About CrimeWeb:

CrimeWeb is a centralized clearinghouse used by public safety agencies across the nation to distribute information to the communities they serve. The patented CrimeWeb process is the most effective method of delivering information to a targeted population of citizens.

Citizens can sign-up for free at www.crimeweb.net and receive specific alert types from any geographical area that interests them. CrimeWeb's patented technology and proprietary zip code engine allows a subscribing agency to distribute alerts anywhere in the country. Alerts can be sent to citizen subscribers in specific zip codes, up to 99 miles around a specific zip code or to all registered users located geographically between two zip codes
